

“A constant struggle, a ceaseless battle to bring success from inhospitable surroundings is the price of all great achievements”

Orison Swett Marden

Specialist Areas:

Commercial Dispute Resolution and Commercial, in particular project and regulatory work.

Patrick has a reputation for quickly getting to the crux of the disputed issues and is respected by his clients as an excellent tactician.

Recent work includes the resolution of a multi million pound claim concerning negligent advice from top city lawyers, a very substantial sale of goods claim involving American, French, Swedish and English companies and a successful judicial review of a Government Authority.

Patrick also has a record of providing no win no fee terms to help smaller companies and individuals gain an equal footing with much larger and wealthier opponents.

Patrick's expertise in litigation and dispute resolution has led to his instruction in substantial commercial matters and project work notably in Asia and Africa. Recent commercial instructions include project work on a contract involving the construction of drill rigs in Zambia and the negotiation of a substantial invoice discount agreement on behalf of an automotive business.

Nearly half of Patrick's work is now commercial and he believes that the balance with commercial dispute resolution is one that works very well.
